this introductory course covers key concepts related to the cellular actions, therapeutic uses, side effects and toxic actions of major drug classes used in humans and non-human species i feel that is among the so considerably significant information for me they're not horrible, but i believe their not as engaging as they should be.